

Neviusia alabamensis

Alabama Snow-wreath

The plants for sale were propagated from cuttings, not wild collected.

Neviusia is a deciduous shrub that is native to scattered areas in southern regions of the United States. Rare in all its range, it is on the threatened plant list in several states. Fluffy, white flowers on the gracefully arching branches put on a beautiful display in the spring. Not often found in nurseries, Neviusia alabamensis makes an elegant addition to the home landscape. Alabama Snow-wreath can be grown in average, well-drained garden soils, in full sun to partial shade. Naturalizes well, tends to colonize an area.
