

Rudbeckia triloba

Brown-eyed Susan

Outstanding, abundant, yellow flowers in summer and fall are features that make Rudbeckia triloba a hit in any garden. This plant naturalizes well. Birds and butterflies are attracted to the showy flowers. Drought and salt tolerant, brown-eyed Susan prefers a sunny spot, with well-drained soil. At the UGA/Tifton Campus plants have been evergreen for several years.

Height: 2' – 3'. Spread: 1' – 3'